

Citrix expands Remote PC Access availability

The expansion follows Citrix's strong Q1, in which it saw increased Workspace deployments due to the large numbers of people working from home.

Citrix is expanding the availability of its Remote PC Access, responding to the high number of workers across sectors looking for secure ways to work remotely through the COVID-19 pandemic.

To read this article, please visit ZDNet.