

How a massive five-year transformation plan was delivered in a week, because of coronavirus

The COVID-19 coronavirus outbreak and the introduction of social-distancing measures in the UK in an attempt to slow the outbreak are having huge impacts across society and making organisations rethink everything about how they operate.

To read the article, please visit ZDNet