

Using machine learning to make work 'suck a little less'

Emboldened by the tightest labor market the world has ever seen, employees are demanding a simpler, smarter, more flexible way to work. And in 2020, they'll get it.

To read this article, please visit Medium