

Workplace Technology 2021: Five Trends That Could Change The Way We Get Things Done

To say 2020 has been an incredible year for technology is an understatement. Trends aimed at fueling digital transformation that was already in play accelerated at warp speed and kept business moving. The stage is set for more radical change in the way work gets done in the year ahead. Citrix CIO shares her thoughts on what we can expect in this piece on Forbes.

To read the article, please visit Forbes.