

Citrix aligns with Red Hat on ADCs for Kubernetes

Citrix application delivery controllers (ADC) have been validated to run on top of the Red Hat OpenShift application development and deployment platform based on Kubernetes. See what Container Journal has to say about the news.

To read this article, please visit Container Journal