

Citrix builds a platform to the stars

Citrix Systems is heading into a low orbit. Literally. See how its hypervisors will ride into space aboard Vector GalacticSky's microsattellites to power software defined reprogrammable payloads.

Citrix Systems is heading into a low orbit. Literally. Its hypervisors will ride into space aboard Vector GalacticSky's microsattellites to power software defined reprogrammable payloads.

To read this article, please visit ITWorld Canada