

From 'AI-ngels' to automation: How will we work in 2035?

What jobs will emerge in the year 2035? Will robots and humans work in harmony? A recent Citrix study sought to find out.

Citrix recently completed Work 2035, a survey of more than 1,500 business leaders and employees in the US, the UK, Germany, France and the Netherlands. that found employees of the future will be more engaged and more productive and will “fuel innovation and growth like never before”.

To read the article, please visit Silicon Republic.