

Forbes Tech Council: Privacy In An Era Where All Things Know All Things

Forbes Technology Council featured an article from Citrix CTO Christian Reilly where he discusses the impact of consumerization and how the iPhone has put “the capability to use a single device for business productivity and for personal pleasure without the involvement of IT” right into our hands. He shares the security impact of our personal connection to devices and the volume of data we share and consume.

To read the full article, visit Forbes Tech Council.