

What Do Employees Really Want in 2021? Citrix Research Offers the Answer

Hint: It's flexibility, agility, and diversity.

The workplace is constantly evolving, and now faster since the pandemic set in. Still, specific trends seem to be emerging stronger than others. These trends include flexibility, agility, diversity and a superior experience in attracting talent, according to a Citrix Study.

To read the article, please visit Toolbox HR.