

62% of IT leaders are considering downsizing infrastructure in favor of the cloud

The sudden shift to remote work has accelerated digital transformation strategies for many organizations, Citrix study finds.

The sudden shift to remote work has accelerated digital transformation strategies to accommodate more flexible ways of working and is prompting IT leaders to rethink their strategies.

To read the article, please visit TechRepublic.