

The Future of Gig Work

The balance of power has shifted. Employees are no longer demanding flexible jobs that allow them to innovate and move forward, they're commanding them. And companies that embrace hybrid work models and digital workspace solutions can serve them up and position themselves to win the fierce battle for talent that is crippling businesses around the globe.

To read the article, please visit Medium