

Why some CEOs think the hybrid workplace is 'the right model going forward'

As companies consider a return to the workplace, some executives say the hybrid office model will be the way of the future. Citrix President and CEO David Henshall recently shared his thoughts on the topic during the Collision from Home conference.

To read the article, please visit Yahoo! Finance.