

Why employees are sick of cities and want to work remotely

Some 70% of knowledge workers said they would move out of their cities if they could conduct their work remotely, according to a Citrix Systems report.

To read this article, please visit TechRepublic.