

Organizations turn to zero trust to support remote workforce - Citrix survey

Security in the future of work is all about creating a people-focused approach to protect the multitude of applications, content, devices, and tools that are increasingly being delivered and managed in the cloud. See how Citrix can help you do it.

To read the article, please visit IT Brief.