

Embracing the New Normal: Survey Shows How Employees Are Adjusting to Remote Work

Work has a new look. Beds have become desks, bathrooms serve as conference rooms, kids and pets crash virtual meetings, and video calls capture awkward moments when we think our cameras are off. Yet, as the results of a survey of 2,000 US office workers conducted by OnePoll on behalf of Citrix reveal, most of us are managing to stay productive and engaged.

To read this article, please visit Recruiter.